City Democratic Primaries Will Be Held Saturday

City run-off elections will be held in six Northeast Louisiana municipalities Saturday topped by the mayor's race in West Monroe.

Second primaries are set for West Monroe, Winfield, Rayville, Tallulah, Lake Providence and Jonesboro.

Over 5300 registered voters are qualified to make a choice between Mayor J. Allan Norris and his opponent, C. C. (Dutch) Bell Jr., in the West Monroe mayor's race.

Ten candidates are bidding for a seat on the five-man City Council in West Monroe.

Bell, a former mayor, led a three-man field in the first primary, polling 1514 votes to Norris' 1453. The third candidate, Richard Vallery, was eliminated. Norris is seeking his third term. In the West Monroe council campaign, incumbents in the runoff are A. P. Burkett, Loy Heard, R. C. Jolissaint and Ben Farmer. C. E. Ponder was defeated in the first primary.

Seeking a council post are Earl Duncan, Mrs. Joyce T. Smith, George Wylie, Charles Anding, A. L. DeLoach and G. B. Folds. The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. in the West Monroe election.

Only town in the area with a mayor's race to be decided is in Winfield, where incumbent Mayor Mary Allen will be defending a 866-393 first primary vote lead over challenger J. D. Taylor.

A runoff looms for Wilber B. Evans, Kenneth W. Henderson, Roy James and Garland Sanders for two aldermen's posts.

At Tallulah, Archie Fairbanks and J. C. Stocks will contest an alderman's post. In another aldermen runoff, T. L. Colvin, Veldon Brown, Merrell Cox and Emmitt E. Rodgers are pitted at Jonesboro.

Marshal Pearce Bailey, William Stanley Burton Jr., Howard G. White and J. D. White are second primary contestants for aldermen's posts at Lake Providence.

Robert N. Smith, incumbent, is (see CITY ELECTIONS page 2A)

Negro Returning To Louisiana From Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—A Negro sent to Chicago by Louisiana segregationists is returning home, convinced that it was a mistake to accept the offer by the White Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans of free transportation to the North.

Rezzie Moffett, 45, one of three Negroes sent by the New Orleans segregationists, boarded a bus Thursday for a return to New Orleans.

Moffett arrived May 1 and has been unable to find a job in Chicago, Ralph Collins, executive director of Travelers Aid Society, told newsmen.

Moffett carried a worn canvas bag and $3 in pocket money when he left. His $22.51 ticket and the pocket money were contributed by the Cook County Public Aid Department.

Drop Expected In Peach Crop

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department has forecast a drop in the 1962 peach crop in nine Southern States.

The department estimated the peach crop at 14,320,000 bushels, a drop of about one fourth from last year. Cold temperatures in January through March were blamed for the drop.

Harvest of Louisiana's short crop is expected to begin about June 1.

Man May Lose Both His Wives

ROGERSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Kenneth Donald Morelock may lose both his wives. Darlene Goad Morelock has filed suit for divorce in Circuit Court charging mistreatment. The couple was married in June, 1959.

Janice Ann Arnold Morelock, 19, is petitioning in the same court for either an annulment or divorce. She claims she married Morelock in March, 1960, and learned after he deserted her less than 24 hours later—that he already had a wife.

Conservatives Concede Loss In Elections

Macmillan Fears Local Vote Shows National Trend

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's government was shaken today as Liberals and Laborites walloped the Conservatives in local elections that often reflect the national political trend. The Conservatives conceded a setback as the opposition seized control of municipal councils in 36 towns. The Tories lost a net of 516 seats in 428 boroughs in England and Wales.

The campaign was fought almost entirely on domestic issues—particularly the Macmillan government's new restraints on wages and dividends and the uncertainties over Britain's prospective entry into the Common Market.

WIPES OUT GAIN The swing against the Conservatives in voting Thursday almost wiped out the gain of 700 seats the Tories picked up in local elections over the last three years.

The Laborite Daily Mirror called it "disaster for the Tories."

The Conservative Daily Mail took a slightly softer line: "Tories totter."

With results from 417 of the 428 boroughs counted, the results showed the Conservatives gained 13 seats, lost 531; Laborites gained 335, lost 75; Liberals gained 339, lost 12; independents gained 53, lost 122.

In addition, the Conservatives gained 2 newly created seats, Labor 12, Liberals 1.

The local elections go on all week, but Thursday was the big day.

Arkansas Negro Is En Route To Hyannis Port

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—An unemployed Negro cook today was on his way to Hyannis Port, Mass., where President Kennedy has a summer home—in hopes of fulfilling a two-sided ambition.

David Harris, 43, of Little Rock, boarded a bus Thursday, with a $51 one-way ticket and $10 in spending money, courtesy of the Capital Citizens Council's plan to send dissatisfied Negroes out of the South.

Before he left, Harris predicted he would return to Little Rock in a few years a rich man, and laughingly added, "in a red Cadillac."

He also promised to go fishing with Amos Guthrie, president of the Citizens Council, who bought his ticket.

The council has been making overtures for two weeks, offering free trips to Hyannis Port for Negro families, but had no takers, until Harris.

Guthrie said he hoped the President's young brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy would be on hand when the bus arrives in Hyannis, a few miles from the exclusive Cape Cod summer home of the President's family.

In Boston, a spokesman for Ted Kennedy said he probably would meet with a committee he formed earlier this week to aid any Negroes sent to Massachusetts from the South.

Jury Fails To Decide On Cullipher

Four days of trial and deliberation ended late Thursday in a mistrial in Cecil Eugene Cullipher's murder case.

District Attorney Albin P. Laster said the 24-year-old south-side resident probably will be tried again in November. Until then, he will remain in the Quachita parish jail.

The 12-man jury tried to reach a verdict over a 23-hour period before announcing that, "we have been unable to reach a verdict and see no possibility of reaching one."

Judge Mack Barham presided over the case, which began Monday in Fourth District Court.

Cullipher is charged with murder in the fatal stabbing of Monroe businessman Lealis Hale on October 3, 1961.

He maintains he was acting in self-defense.

Tax Depreciation Write-Offs Due

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—The Kennedy administration made a major move today toward better relations with business by announcing that liberalization of tax depreciation write-offs will be ordered soon.

Unofficial estimates set the 1962 tax savings at about $1.25 billion for big and little businessmen.

The announcement was made at a singularly appropriate forum—the Business Council, an organization of major industrialists headed by Chairman Roger M. Blough of U.S. Steel Corp.

President Kennedy's chief antagonist in the April steel price tussle, Big steel rolled back its price increases under pressures from Kennedy.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon sent the word that the revision is now in its final stages. He said the write-offs will be ordered into effect late next month or in July at the latest.

Dillon, detained in Washington by congressional hearings, was unable to attend today's opening session of the Business Council's spring meeting. Undersecretary Henry H. Fowler read Dillon's speech at the closed-door session, after giving copies to newsmen.

As if in direct reply to those who have charged since the steel battle that the Kennedy administration is antibusiness, Fowler told the 100 assembled corporate heads:

"Our depreciation revision as a whole will, indeed, be meaningful to American industry and to the entire American economy."

"Can anyone any longer doubt this?"

The Treasury official gave no actual figures and made no estimate of the amount industry would save—and the Treasury would lose—by shortening the periods in which companies can write off the cost of new machinery and equipment.

But, he said the biggest annual deductions it will permit will take effect in this 1962 tax year, will be usable as a matter of right by all taxpayers, and will apply to machines and equipment added (see DEPRECIATION page 2A)

Man Who Hired Negro Is Held

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Harvey J. Brudner, the New Jersey physicist who hired the first Negro sent North by the New Orleans Citizens Council, was held today in District of Columbia Hospital for mental observation.

Brudner was admitted to the hospital Tuesday after he jumped a policeman's car and demanded to see the President. According to secret service agent Robert Bouck, Brudner told White House guards, "I am the most informed scientist in the United States. I can save the world."

Medical Developments, Inc., the P. Lee, N.J., firm of which Brudner is president, recently hired a Negro as a $100-a-week handyman.

Boyd and his wife and eight children were the first Negroes to accept the New Orleans Citizens Council's offer of a bus ticket and $5 to leave the Louisiana city and go North.

The hospital reported Brudner's condition as "satisfactory."

Reds Attack Rear Guard

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Royal Laotian troops were reported fleeing across the Mekong River into friendly Thailand today as pro-Communist forces seized Houei Sai more than 100 miles beyond the cease-fire line. The Red rebels drove forward to capture the government outpost on the Mekong border and complete their occupation of the whole of northwest Laos in defiance of a demand from their nationalist ally Prince Souvanna Phouma, to halt their offensive.

Top Advisors Called In For Conferences

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy reportedly called in his diplomatic and military advisors to discuss how to stop the new fighting in Laos and what to do if it continues.

The conference Thursday broke up only hours before the Laos government publicly announced new gains by pro-Communist forces.

A defense ministry spokesman said rebel troops had smashed to Houei Sai on the Mekong River, which forms the border with Thailand.

SITUATION SERIOUS U.S. officials said the Laos situation is serious but that at least for now the United States is concentrating on means of restoring the year-old cease-fire which was broken Sunday when the rebels overran a government stronghold.

Pending further developments the President made no new decisions, informants indicated.

If the fighting continues, informants indicated, the United States may have to decide whether to take drastic new steps to strengthen the anti-Communist government forces led by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

And such steps could lead to the involvement of American forces in the battle to keep Laos from being crushed by Communist-supported Pathet Lao rebels.

The Pathet Lao, backed and armed by the Soviet Union, North Vietnam and Red China, surged forward in a lightning offensive that advanced more than 100 miles in five days after the capture of Nam Tha, provincial capital near the Chinese border.

Details on the fall of Houei Sai were meager. There were no reports of government casualties or how many escaped. The royal garrison at Nam Tha totaled 5,000 men but they had proved no match for the rebel onslaught and beat a hasty retreat south.

Cigarettes Now Are For Smoking

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Mrs. Mary Campbell said today she has been cured of her special craving for cigarettes—she now smokes them instead of eating them.

"It was when I was pregnant that I first started eating cigarettes," she said. "The craving grew stronger and stronger until I was getting through as many as 100 a day," she said.

Mrs. Campbell said she finally sought medical advice when she began to get continually sick after eating cigarettes. And then there was the expense.

Cigarettes cost about 60 cents a pack in Britain and she said, "I was getting into debt." Doctors treated her in a hospital. She said the doctor told her "mental stress" caused her special craving.

"Now I am down to about 10 a day—but only to smoke," Mrs. Campbell said.

OUT WITH CLASSICS Professor Urges Modern Reading

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A Harvard professor says it is a shame more modern literature isn't read in high school classes.

Dr. Edwin Sauer suggested Thursday night that parents get together with teachers and form committees to prepare the community for the use of realistic books by the better modern authors.

Though he said he did not agree with some who contend that all of the old classics should be scrapped, he added it was time "to use a little judgment."

The trouble is, he told the spring conference of the Rhode Island Council of Teachers, "in modern literature what's clean is not clear and what's clear is not clean."

"We have all the right authors in it."

Dr. Sauer, an associate professor at the Harvard School of Education, said high school students were capable of handling literature of great maturity.

"If they are expected to react like adults to realistic literature, they will," he said. "Teachers should learn how to teach such literature."

"At first, the community, rather than the pupil, must be prepared," he said, pointing out that the "community recognizes the value of modern realistic literature, and the teachers are prepared properly to teach it, pupils will have little trouble appreciating it."

All Communists Are Banned By Betancourt

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Romulo Betancourt has banned Communists and their allies from political activity in a quick sequel to last weekend's abortive leftist revolt.

The government charged that the Communist party and the extremist Movement of the Revolutionary Forward (MIR) sought the violent overthrow of the Betancourt administration to establish a Communist Cuban-type regime in oil-rich Venezuela.

Police raided the parties' Caracas offices and seized records Thursday night shortly before Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez announced the presidential decrees in a nationwide radio-television address. Police also shut down the Communist party newspaper and started to take over all property of the two parties.

Perez said the government had definite proof of Communist and MIR participation in the brief military revolt at the coastal city of Carapano, which the government crushed Saturday.

ready in use as well as to those bought subsequently.

This word dispelled suspicious voice in some quarters that there would be only a token liberalization, or that the prospect of faster depreciation was being used merely as bait to induce businessmen to support the other key elements of the administration's tax program—the bill providing a tax credit for investment made in modernization.

BETTER BREAK

Together, Dillon has declared the tax measures will give U.S. industry a better tax break than their long-entrenched foreign competitors. And, he has said, they should stimulate the kind of plant improvements that can bring American exporters closer to cost equality in world markets.

Fowler assured the business leaders that the guidelines are rooted in reality; that they recognize the more rapid obsolescence of industrial equipment in an era of changing technology.

He left no doubt that the new rules will go into effect regardless of the fate of the tax credit legislation, and disclosed also that

The new rules will be vastly simpler than those set forth in the Treasury's existing, 20-year-old Bulletin F. Instead of specifying official useful lives for 5,000 separate items, there will be only a handful of broad classes of items for each industry.

The new schedule will not cover factory structures, warehouses, or other buildings, Fowler said, because the Treasury wants to see whether Congress passes proposed legislation closing what he called a loophole in the tax treatment of gains made on the sale of depreciable property.

If Congress does close this loophole, the Treasury will go ahead with revisions of Bulletin F covering buildings, Fowler assured the businessmen.

Any business which has been able to prove to the Internal Revenue Service that the depreciable life of its equipment is shorter than those set forth in the new guidelines will be permitted to use the shorter period of write-off, he said.

And as long as a company's depreciation reserves do not become inordinately high—which would be an indication that old equipment is not being replaced as contemplated—the depreciation rate will not be subject to challenge at any time.

A company using the new schedule will not be questioned for a long period of time, Fowler said, even if its depreciation reserve grows large. The revenue service will act only when, after a period of years, it appears that equipment is not being replaced as rapidly as the company claims.

The council, meanwhile, awaited expected optimistic forecasts by industry's own economists of strongly rising business activity through 1962.

Contestants were judged on poise and personality at the tea and dinner Thursday and will compete in three other events to day—evening gown, swimsuit and talent.

Contest judges are Mrs. James Rivers of Monroe, a former Miss Louisiana; Mrs. James Riser, supervisor of guidance and research in the Caddo Parish school system; Arthur Stone, professor of drama at Louisiana Tech; Robert Evans, vice president of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.; and Leroy Anspach, organist at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Monroe.

Each judge will select the top five contestants in each event, awarding five points for first place, four for second, three for third, two for fourth and one for fifth. The contestant with the highest aggregate score will be chosen Miss Northeast.

In case of a tie between any of the top three entries, the judges will break the tie by a single vote.

Each entry will present a short routine in the talent competition. Four will give dramatic readings, four will dance, three will perform musical or comedy skits, three will present vocal solos and one will play the piano.

Sponsored by the Northeast student council, the pageant is directed by Kirby Jane Mooney. Miss Mooney was the 1960 Miss Northeast and was runnerup in the Miss Louisiana Pageant. Janet Hyman is assistant director.

Glenn, who reported seeing firefly-like objects during his three orbits, was questioned about reports that they might have been condensed crystals of water vapor from his capsule—snowflakes.

"I don't feel they were snowflakes, or paint peeling off the outside of the capsule," he replied. "I don't feel they originated from the capsule at all, because some of them were coming toward me."

He said the objects were "about the size of a firefly and about the same color, a greenish-yellow. There seemed to be a great number of them, about 8 to 10 feet apart, traveling some three to five miles an hour either faster or slower than the capsule."

Titov has said he noticed something like fireflies during his 17 orbits. He said he saw them first from the booster and then from the retro rockets.

Glenn said astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter, scheduled for an earth-orbiting flight this month, plans to watch closely for a recurrence of the luminous objects.

Others on the panel, all of whom have gone up 100,000 feet or more, were three balloonists, Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, Air Force Capt. Joseph Kittinger and Air Force Col. David Simmons, and X-15 pilots Neil Armstrong of NASA, Navy Cmdr. Forrest Peterson and Air Force Maj. Bob White.

In response to a question, Glenn said Titov's criticism of U.S. spaceships was rather ridiculous and apparently politically oriented.

When Titov visited the world's fair here, he saw a model of a Mercury capsule like one in which Glenn made his flight. Titov voiced doubts of its reliability, saying he based the observation on early U.S. space failures which didn't involve Mercury capsules.

"One must consider the motives of U.S. and Russian space programs," said Glenn. "We conduct a straight forward program. But what the Russians do is cloaked in secrecy and has political significance as a side effect."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson closed the space meeting Thursday night at a banquet with a speech in which he voiced cautious optimism for cooperation from Russia in space exploration.

Johnson is chairman of the National Space Council.

Sharp Jr. are the defense attorneys.

Chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr. testified Thursday that he received a leaflet from an unidentified Negro on 14th street, advising a meeting at the Temple of Islam on March 5, 1961.

He said that he and another officer went to the Temple but were refused entrance, and that the Negroes inside committed a battery on him in pushing him from the building, at 1243 DeSiard St.

Kelly said he then summoned other officers, for the purpose of arresting the Negroes on a battery charge.

The officers went to the rear of the building when entry could not be gained from the front, but were met by a barrage of missiles, ranging from coke cartons to boards thrown by the Muslims, he testified.

Police put down the disturbance, and then seized the signboard in question as evidence in the case.

Since that time, the Negroes involved have been convicted both in Monroe city court and on appeal in Fourth District Court on charges ranging from disturbing the peace to battery.

Other witnesses who testified Thursday were Tom H. Scott, foreman of the grand jury which indicted Cade, and Negro Muslims Robert Douglas, Mattie Johnson, Lillie Mae Menniweather, and the defendant.

In his opening charge to the jury, Lassiter said he expects to show that Cade "has taught both adults and children that this nation of Islam, which he advocates, should be given land in the United States of America, in Louisiana and other states, free of charge, on the grounds that his ancestors spent 300 years in slavery and have paid for such lands."

Lassiter also said he expects to show the following points:

1. That Cade has taught that the flag of the U. S. A. represents Christianity as opposed to the flag of the nation of Islam which represents the alleged religion of Islam.

2. That he has taught that persons living under the flag of the U. S. A. and under the beliefs in Christianity have given the Negroes only hell, death and slavery.

Religious Flavor Begins To Show In Mother's Day

By JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

If Anna Jarvis were alive today she might see some hope for Mothers Day after all. There are signs the annual observance is taking on some of the religious flavor Anna had in mind when she thought up the idea.

Mounting commercialization of Mothers Day left Anna Jarvis, ironically, without sympathy for the cause she created when she lay on her deathbed in 1948, blind, deaf and penniless.

Commercialization is more widespread than ever before—the estimate for this year is that sales will top $1 billion—but manifestations of the religious significance of the day also are apparent.

The American Mothers Committee, the organization which selects mother of the year, reports churches throughout the land are paying increasingly more attention to Mothers Day with special services and sermons. A number of firms which sell religious goods say they are beginning, at least, to share in the billion dollar bonanza.

The idea for an annual Mothers Day was born in a church house, and to Anna's way of thinking it never should have left it. A plaque on the lawn of Andrews Methodist Church in Grafton, W. Va., tells how it all began.

ity she will star in another series next year.

In post-Civil War days Anna's mother, a Sunday school teacher at the church, used to promote a spring picnic honoring the mothers of the community. The war had turned neighbor against neighbor, just as it had divided the state itself, and Mrs. Jarvis hoped to heal the scars by getting both Union and Confederate veterans to gather with their families for a Mothers Friendly Day.

On the second anniversary of her mother's death, May 9, 1907, Anna held memorial services at her home in Philadelphia, then set out on a crusade for a national holiday to honor the nation's mothers.

The following year, and on the second Sunday in May every year thereafter, the Andrews Methodist Church in Grafton has held special Mothers Day services. The Rev. Virgil Gillum, the pastor, will use as Sunday's scripture text the same verse Dr. Harry C. Howard spoke from in 1908: "Woman behold thy son... behold thy mother."

Anna Jarvis' campaign resulted in Congress passing a resolution in 1914, signed by President Woodrow Wilson, proclaiming an annual observance.

But as the commercial importance of the day grew so did Anna's disappointment. Gradually it turned to bitterness and she retreated from the world, rarely leaving her house except to tend her mother's grave. Acquaintances discovered her living in poverty, raised some money and put her in a sanitarium.

Anna's crusade was strictly American in origin, but the idea of an annual day to honor motherhood certainly isn't novel.

Emmy Award Too Late To Save Show

HOLLYWOOD — LIP... Cara Williams, the bouncy, red-haired star of the "Pete and Gladys" television show, may win an Emmy Award this month but it will come too late to save the series.

Win, lose or draw, "Pete and Gladys" is as dead as hula hoops. "I think our cancellation made history," the Williams girl said during a lunch time lull. "I can't figure it out. We had very high ratings—much higher for instance than the Dick Van Dyke show—but we were thrown out and Van Dyke was renewed."

As far as I know a network has never cancelled a successful series before.

But Cara isn't the only television Academy Award nominee whose show has been pulled from the air. Comedian Bob Newhart, Jackie Cooper, Rod Spelling and Gertrude Berg are in the running outside the fact that their vehicles have been tinkered.

"I, 2, 3, 4, 5," nominated for the best children's program, was so good it could be back next year.

Somewhere along the line somebody goofed on the economy, the rating systems or the networks.

Cara is becoming cagey. "I have mixed emotions about our show going off the air," she said. "Like watching your mother-in-law go over a cliff in your new sports car."

It was sad, saying goodbye to the crew members and the cast. At our farewell party most of us were crying. After two years together you get to be sort of like a family.

On the other hand, a weekly television show can be lonely. It seems you work from dawn till dusk every day.

"Pete and Gladys" did not include Cara who has signed a new contract with the network. In all probability

'National Interest' And Inflated Dollar

One of the key expressions in Kennedy administration news releases and press conferences is the "national interest."

The phrase is an old one and can be made to mean whatever the user has in mind. The Constitution refers to the general welfare in the preamble and here the words "national interest" could be substituted.

But Mr. Kennedy has pretty well explained his use of the expression during the recent settlement of the attempted price boost in steel. He said what he did in order to stop the steel industry's announced price boost was in the "national interest."

Yet the President has also maintained that in the same interest of the public, there must be no inflation because we need to halt the flight of gold from the country and increase our foreign exchange. At the same time, he says, we must have continued production and employment.

The President's Council of Economic Advisors claims this can be achieved if both industry and labor hold wages and prices within non-inflationary limits as determined by studies of just what comprises a stable dollar. The gatherers of such figures say business is good and wages are high. In addition, depreciation tables for industrial machinery are being revised to assure U.S. industries they can renew equipment and plan research for new products.

But what about the government's own tendencies? Calling for restraints in management and labor on the one hand is in strange contrast to the President's request for standby power to spend $2 billion in public works in case things should suddenly take a turn for the worst economically.

The administration has also boosted deficit spending to around $7 billion for the current year and has called on Congress to adjust the national debt limit upwards about $12 billion. When the government begins to spend huge sums of money which have not come in, the classic pattern of inflation is established.

In other words, the administration, in stepping into the steel dispute as a third—and final—voice, claimed it was acting in the national interest. Thus labor is no longer free to bargain and industry can no longer set its prices without the very real fear that the government can step into the picture.

But who can step into the spiral of inflation as set up by the federal government? The national interest is best served by habits of thrift whether in industry, foreign trade or in all levels of government.

Since government must operate largely from paychecks and profits, it should not work at cross purposes by forcing programs which boost inflation.

Soviet Press Awards Made 'Objectively'

Last weekend, there was an official celebration in Moscow marking the 50th anniversary of the Communist Party newspaper, Pravda. Khrushchev drank a toast to the "objective press." Wherever that institution may have gone, it did not go to Soviet Russia.

"Objectivity" under that system means absolute conformity with party aims. Hence Premier Khrushchev climaxed the chorus of official satisfaction by praising Pravda for "wrathfully exposing the savage essence of imperialism and waging uncompromising struggle against the bourgeois ideology of man-hating."

During the festivities, Aleksei Adzhubei, who has twice interviewed President Kennedy in Washington, was awarded the Order of Lenin. Certainly he did not receive his decoration for making Mr. Kennedy and the United States look good in the Russian government newspaper, Izvestia. More likely he wrote along lines pointed out by Khrushchev.

Adzhubei is the son-in-law of Khrushchev. So while family honors were being passed out for "objective" writing, Adzhubei's wife—who just happens to be Khrushchev's own daughter—received the Red Banner of Labor for her work as deputy editor of the magazine, Science and Life. So it is supposed that even the awards were handed out impartially—in the communist manner.

The free world's press has not joined in the Moscow festivities over Pravda's anniversary. It and other communist news media exemplify the totalitarian concept that a newspaper may only tell its readers what their rulers think is suitable for them to know.

It should be the responsibility of free news services to inform readers, as fully and as accurately as possible of all important news at all levels, regardless of political implications.

Uncle Sam Has Biggest Stake In Encouraging Profits

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Talk of a general revision of tax rates is being renewed in administration circles. The objective is to spur the economy and bring about an actual increase in tax receipts. The basic principle of tax revision is sound. The federal government is confronted today with a sluggish economy. Wage rates are rising, and the administration either is unwilling or feels it has no power to restrain such increases. It isn't too hopeful either that it now can keep prices stable in view of the fact that the fiasco in steel has been followed by wage increases in other industries.

TAX PROBLEM
By turning to the tax problem, therefore, a feeling is developing here that a solution to the whole fiscal situation may be found. Uncle Sam has the biggest stake in encouraging the earnings of more tax money. Whatever stimulates interest in better plant and equipment not only can ultimately increase tax receipts but can result soon in a general improvement in business and larger employment rolls.

Latest figures on the overall situation, derived from government data on the national economy, tell a sensational story. They show plainly that the profit picture needs to be carefully analyzed by the administration if it wants some day to balance its budget and create a surplus out of which to pay off its debt.

Thus, comparing the average of the years 1954 through 1957 with the average of 1958 through 1961, national income in the United States is up 19.6 per cent. Sales by corporations are up 18.7 per cent.

The pay of corporation workers is up 18.9 per cent. But the stark fact which stands out is that, despite all these increases, corporate profits after taxes show a rise of only 3.3 per cent. The comparison is worse when it is based on the percentage of national income. The total pay of all corporation employees as a whole has actually dropped. It was 43.7 per cent from 1954 to 1957, and 43.5 per cent from 1958 to 1961.

Even more discouraging is the fact that corporate profits, figured in terms of national income, are down by 12.7 per cent in the year average. Corporate tax receipts, moreover, dropped 1.5 per cent in the last four years compared with the preceding four years.

This means that, despite all the talk of national output increasing, there has been in practical effect a retardation of the whole economy. The country isn't "moving ahead" as the politicians predicted.

The downward trend may explain the steady decline in stock-market prices of about $36 billion from mid-December to April 30. Investors who had been hoping to see a steady increase in earnings finally have become skeptical.

High tax rates are the basic cause of the lag in business development in the last few years. They have also failed to produce more revenue for the government. The treasury could collect more money eventually with lower tax rates than it does today with higher rates. Temporarily there would be a drop-off covering about 18 months of a transition period. But the boom would be felt almost immediately in many lines of business, because planning for expansion would start at once in various kinds of enterprises, especially in the heavy-goods field.

The administration's economic advisers and treasury officials have been debating the best way to use tax changes as an incentive. The so-called 7 per cent credit for new equipment isn't favored by businessmen generally, because it may prove to be a temporary measure and it applies only to new equipment. It doesn't take care of all phases of modernization and all the items usually covered in the building of plant facilities.

What is favored, on the other hand, is a prompt revision across the board of all the rates of depreciation so that business can at least make five-year plans. Within the last few days the secretary of commerce, Luther Hodges, has talked about tax-rate changes if the budget can be balanced. But, unless there's some check on government spending, the fiscal picture will not improve and tax receipts will not save the day.

TOP RATE
What is being suggested by some administration officials is that the top rate in personal income taxes be reduced from the 91 per cent level to somewhere around 65 per cent, corporation taxes be cut from 32 per cent to 49 per cent, and income taxes in the lower brackets also be revised downward. Up to now there has been talk that something like this might be prepared as a gimmick for the 1964 political campaign. But if America is in the throes of a recession in 1963 and 1964, tax revision would not come in time to help the Kennedy administration. That's why the idea of taking action in the session of congress beginning in January 1963, but announcing it this summer, is gaining ground inside the administration as much the better political strategy.

witness, Jack Sargeant Harris, was asked: "Do you know there was a memorandum prepared by the security official pointing out that there was strong evidence that you had been a Communist at least up to 1938?"

Mr. Harris: "I decline to answer that question also." Investigation showed that Bunche had persuaded Harris to apply for U.N. employment, and had lobbied in his behalf. The Government Loyalty Board in 1954 cleared Bunche of any charges of disloyalty. The Communist Daily Worker commented: "It is good that the attempted political knifing of Dr. Bunche was balked; but America's safety requires that the big lie about Communism which the political assassins tried to use against him be discarded for the forgery it is."

Another colleague on Science and Society was Vladimir Kazakevich, who was about to be arrested for deportation when he fled this country for Russia. In testimony before the McCarran Committee, Elizabeth Bentley, onetime Soviet agent, said that Kazakevich handed over information to Jacob Golos, Soviet spy chief, with the knowledge that it was going to the Soviet Union.

The business manager of Science and Society was A. A. Heller, who served also as president of International Publishers, publishing operation of the Communist Party. This firm was required by the government to register as a foreign agent representing the Soviet Union in the U.S.

During the war years Bunche was an official of the Institute of Pacific Relations, described by a Senate subcommittee as "an instrument of Communist policy, propaganda and military intelligence."

HEARINGS
In October, 1953, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee held hearings on the Communist activities of U.S. citizens employed by the United Nations. One

Alcatraz Inmate Not Freed

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Bobby Kennedy has ruled that Robert Stroud, the so-called Bird Man of Alcatraz, will not be released from that prison. Stroud is about as bad as a man can be and he has had the benefit of much mawkish publicity which has portrayed him as a victim of cruelty at the hands of the Federal prison system. There is a bad fault in that system which permits a director of the Bureau of Prisons, and a presiding Attorney General to persecute individuals for personal or political reasons and to show kindness to proteges of the reigning machine.

One such was allowed to write a book in Danbury and Ring Lardner, Jr., was transferred at public expense from the West Coast where he was closer to Alcatraz and McNeil Island, to Danbury, Conn., to serve his year because his late mother had a country home nearby. His mother was a fine woman, but her son deserved not even pity, to say nothing of sympathy.

RUTHLESS
Homer Cummings, Roosevelt's first Attorney General, a crude politician and damnably ruthless, hit on the idea of transferring Alcatraz, an Army prison. It is expensive, having no water supply and being accessible from the shore outside San Francisco only by ferry. Guests in homes along the shore, viewing The Rock lit up at night, remark that it is a beautiful place and inquire whose home it might be. Actually it is a cruel and unusual prison and Al Capone was sent there. Capone's offense was income tax evasion.

The Administration invoked the 16th Amendment against Capone when a bunch of sanctimonious Chicago "civic leaders" begged the National Government to smash Capone because their city was morally bankrupt. The idea that Capone corrupted Chicago was grotesque. The city was rotten on its own account and the whole country was in revolution against Prohibition, which President Hoover, as a politician, refused to ameliorate in any way.

All Capone did was take advantage of the venality of the public officials of successive administrations of Chicago and Cook County. They were the ones who should have gone to prison. As in the case of Frank Costello years afterward, whose crime also was his signature on a tax return, there were wild charges that Capone was a prime minister of the Underworld and boss of a Mafia, which did not exist. Robert Stroud never was any good. He was in his teens about 1910 when he murdered a bartender in the Territory of Alaska because the bartender was supposed to have underpaid a prostitute for whom Stroud was acting as bargaining agent. The woman may have held out on him. He got life and was sent to McNeil Island where he conspired with another con to kill a guard and go over the wall. Then he was sent to Leavenworth where, during the Wilson Administration, he took part in an idiotic proxy marriage with some old blither who worked up publicity and arranged the "ceremony" with herself outside the plant and her unseen groom somewhere on the inside.

Stroud hated Negroes and was constantly starting fights with them, but his next serious offense was the murder of a guard with a knife. For that he should have been hanged, but Woodrow Wilson intervened and he was sent to solitary for life. The guard's widow later wrote me bitterly about her struggle to raise two little sons. This was apropos the publication of a sympathetic and distorted book depicting Stroud as a great authority on the diseases of canaries and other small birds. He actually had learned something about this topic because, in solitary, he had tempted some sparrows to the sill of his window with crumbs. Whether they died or he killed them, he did cut them up and drew line drawings of their insides. A publishing firm in St. Paul got hold of the material and turned out a book of small circulation which presently came into my hands. It was pretty good.

SICKBAY
During World War II, Stroud was admitted to the sickbay at Leavenworth and was caught conspiring with a German prisoner to break out.

For that he was sent to Alcatraz where he lost all privileges. He couldn't even wave to a seagull there and his solitude was absolute until a few years ago when he was transferred to another plant which has special facilities for screwballs. He is now in the print shop of this place where I saw him last summer. He fattens on publicity and spends his spare time writing illiterate appeals to the Supreme Court.

His story is not romantic, he is a dirty, evil specimen and by rights he should have been put to death long ago.

Helen F-V Too Big For Fishing

By JIM BISHOP

Grand Bahama — She wasn't meant for this. The Helen F-V was 60-feet long and she rode the jaws west of Memory Rock like a jeweled dowager. She was fishing today and she looked no more like a fishing boat than the Queen Mary looks like an outboard. The Gray-haired One sat at with his young wife, the baseball cap jaunty and the deep-sea rod held just right.

"It's patience," he said. "That's all it is, Patience." She might have said that's what she used on him, but she didn't. She smiled behind the sun glasses and watched the little ballyhoos ride the crests and troughs behind the boat. She liked fishing. She knew nothing about it, but she liked it. Once, she almost boated a 400-pound mackerel shark and her stomach bunched when she saw him big and brown and lazy in the indigo of the sea.

"We got weed," Israel said. This meant that the captain had found the edge of the Gulf Stream, where the big bill fish feed on mackerel and amberjack. Captain Dick ordered the bait changed to mackerel. The Gray One turned in his fishing chair, noting for the first time that the captain and the mate both looked like ex-pugs.

CRUISING
The captain used the boat for cruising. He had lots of room and he knew the islands. He had good summer furniture on the quarter deck and a big salon with television and card tables below, and several rooms, two with showers. He was a fortyish man with a broken nose and the weather-worn eyes of a skipper who knows the sound of a hull scraping on a reef.

Israel was a Bahamian, black of skin and white of teeth, a man with huge hands and the stride of a fighter. He knows as much about the fishing around West End and Bimini and Andros as Steve Hollingsworth, which is to say a lot. Israel stood in the shade of the quarter deck, watching the bait skip and studying the sea for the dark shadow of the marlin.

There was no dark shadow. The marlin had been there yesterday, and maybe they would be back tomorrow, but they were not there today. The Helen F-V turned slowly toward West End and the Jack Tar Marina. This was home, but she was in no hurry to make the 24 miles, she rode slowly with thrumming diesels along the eastern edge of the Gulf Stream. The Gray One was dozing when Israel yelled "Hit!" and the clothespin snapped and the young wife found herself fighting, with her feet braced against the taffrail, from being hoisted overboard by the bent rod.

"Easy," the Gray One yelled. "Take it easy. Put the thing on drag." He got out of his fishing chair to help her, but she wasn't ed no help. He was the expert, the fisherman, and he knew all kinds of tricks for catching fish, except that he hadn't caught any. The fish swirled a pool of white foam far behind the boat and she pulled him in a turn at a time.

It was a big barracuda and he came up over the rail snapping his jaws like an old man with new teeth. "How come," the Gray One said, "she's getting barracuda on mackerel bait?" Israel smiled. "Ballyhoos for her," he said. "Mackerel for you. The man catch the big fish. The lady catch the nice ones."

He put another ballyhoos on, a miniature of a marlin with his tiny sword all wired, a hook in his stomach, and sutures neatly stitching his body. He tossed him into the sea and the ballyhoos was lost in the propeller swirl and remained lost as Israel kept dropping line, until, when the slack died and the line went taut, the little fish popped to the surface 250 feet aft, riding the rips as though he was swimming.

Israel sat down to his box of chicken. "Hit!" Captain Dick said and the line snapped out and sang off the reel. The Gray One watched his wife fight it. "You have luck," he said. She grunted and braced herself against the yellow sneakers and brought in a fat amberjack. "Now it's my turn," the Gray One said and he looked out at the flat blue sea and the hot noon sun.

She caught a dolphin too, and two more barracuda. Then she was hit hard. Very hard. The fish remained below the surface and he swam for to starboard, and then far to port. The woman began to perspire, but she refused assistance. She fought the unknown for 12 minutes. Then she boated a 35-pound wahoo. He was too big for the fish box and his tail stuck up and his flanks began to dry and wrinkle. He was a good fish to catch.

25 Years Ago

The following events made news 25 years ago today in the May 11, 1937, issue of the News-Star: U. S. Ambassador to Berlin William E. Dodd said in a letter to Senator Robert Buckley of Ohio that "a man owning nearly a billion dollars" was ready to support and control a U. S. dictatorship.

The Duke of Windsor planned to hide until after the coronation of his brother in order to place King George VI in the spotlight for the occasion.

Stanley Mintz and Arnold Ablon were named valedictorian and salutatorian for the Neville High School senior class of 1937.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

WHAT DOGS BITE?

Less than one dog bite in 10 produces a serious injury but the majority lead to considerable fear and anxiety because dogs are the primary source of human rabies. Further evidence of concern was the fact that 50,000 individuals were frightened enough to receive anti-rabic treatment to help keep the number of human rabies deaths down to 10 to 20 every year.

Much of this anxiety could be avoided if all of our pets were immunized against rabies and if all stray dogs were picked up. An improved vaccine is available. The prevention of dog bites is equally important, considering that 600,000 to a million persons are bitten annually. This explains why a busy physician rarely misses a week without receiving a call about an injury of this nature.

These lesions should be cleaned immediately and deep wounds may require cauterization. The decision to use the rabies vaccine depends upon the health and availability of the animal. Don't let the biting dog out of sight.

Many surveys have been made on dog bites. One was done in Pittsburgh, Pa., during the summer of 1958. A total of 947 persons were bitten; 81 per cent of the dogs were traced to their owners and of these, only 264 had been vaccinated against rabies.

Approximately one third of the biting occurred maliciously without human provocation. An equal number were bitten while the victim was playing with or petting the animal; and the remaining third took place because the individual goaded the dog.

This survey showed that working and sporting dogs inflicted more bites than expected. Mixed breeds were most numerous but did proportionately less biting. The hound dog was the most docile of all. Female and young dogs had the highest bite rates.

This demonstrates the need for more caution, especially by children, when dogs are near. Also, the advisability of a license and identifying tags, the need for vaccines, and not permitting animals to roam at large in populated areas.

LUNG CANCER
H. K. Writings: If X-ray shows no evidence of cancer, what other tests are made to determine whether it is present?

REPLY
The chest X-ray is the best way to detect early cancer. If nothing is found, have the X-ray repeated in six months. When a suspicious shadow is found, the sputum is searched for cancer cells or a bronchoscope is passed to investigate the airways. If a tumor is seen, a small piece is removed for biopsy. If all these tests are negative, many physicians suggest surgical removal of the suspicious tumor as a positive way to solve the problem.

BLOOD COUNT AND CANCER
J. L. Writings: Do people with a normal blood count stand less chance of developing cancer than do those with a low blood count?

REPLY
No. The cause of cancer is not known but anemia is definitely not to blame. Cancer victims may develop anemia but in these cases the malignancy is responsible for the low blood count.

SUDDEN WEIGHT GAIN
R. M. Writings: Why would a person put on 20 to 30 pounds within a short period?

REPLY
Too many calories, along with inactivity, is the usual story. A glandular disorder or dropsy may do the same.

MY ANSWER

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: If Christianity is the true religion, why did it not come before 30 A.D.?

ANSWER: It was begun centuries before, and perfection takes time. Just as soon as sin made its mark on the race, God put a plan into motion to conquer it — and the Cross was the consummation of that plan. When Jesus said, "It is finished," the perfect plan was completed. In fact, in the omniscience of God, even before creation He had made a provision for possible error on the part of man. Christ is spoken of in the Scriptures as "The Lamb of God, slain from the foundation of the world." So, Christianity did not begin at the Cross — it was completed there. Through the centuries God was working out His meticulous plan to lift fallen man to his original glory and state.

IN MARYLAND

Tape Recording Election Issue

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A tape recording allegedly out of the past of Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes weighed heavily today on his campaign for Democratic re-nomination to a second term next Tuesday.

The tape was injected into an already vituperative campaign by Jack Pollack, a northwest Baltimore Democratic leader.

Pollack, never an office holder himself but an acknowledged power for two decades, played a tape recording for newsmen he said it was of a conversation he had with Tawes during the 1958 campaign.

Pollack said it proved that Tawes accepted $5,000 from him and in return promised to appoint certain Baltimore judges.

Gov. Tawes admitted he had talked with Pollack, as with other political leaders, but denied that the tape was a recording of the conversation. Tawes said Pollack had threatened him twice with it, but said he has never heard it.

Gov. Tawes acknowledged on television he had given "some recognition to Jack Pollack." He said he regretted it and was "not proud of even my limited associations with this man."

As for the $5,000, Tawes replied earlier if he had received it, he had given it to his campaign treasurer. The treasurer has since died.

While other Democratic and Republican candidates have jumped on Tawes for the purported deal of four years ago, they likewise have pointed their fingers scornfully at George P. Mahoney.

He is considered the major Democratic opponent of Tawes among half a dozen. He has accepted the endorsement of Pollack, the target at times of more attacks than the candidates.

In addition to governor, Maryland voters will nominate candidates for U.S. senator, comptroller, attorney general and a new congressman-at-large.

All will face the need to reap a majority of popular votes as well as unit votes to be sure of winning. A suit is on file charging Tawes with bribery.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Hollywood stars who make films overseas won't like the upcoming changes in the income tax laws. Uncle Sam is about to put a ceiling on how much an American citizen can earn abroad without paying the usual taxes. . . . Judy Garland, in London for just that sort of thing, is adamant about her problems with Sid Luft. She says:

"If I can't take my children back to America, then I shall stay here in Britain. Whatever happens and wherever I go in the world, my children will go with me" . . . New Yorkers breathed sighs of relief when it was learned that Robert Goulet's darling little five-year-old girl was safe after a "kidnap" scare. But that story is far more complicated than meets the eye.

Van Johnson is dinner-dating Larri Thomas, ex-wife of John Bromfield and once linked romantically with Leo Durocher. . . . Film exhibitors aren't broadcasting it, but Elizabeth Taylor has been on the receiving end of some lusty boos and hisses lately. It started in Boston when she was shown in the trailer for the Academy Awards — last year's acceptance footage — and has been heard in other rock-ribbed areas. . . . Good news for theatergoers: There's a chance that Paul Muni may return to Broadway in the fall as star of A. E. Hotchner's "A Last Clear Chance" . . . Arnold Gingrich, publisher of Esquire Magazine, is entering Beth Israel Hospital for his third major operation in less than two months.

State Democratic Chairman William H. McKeon won this season's prize for political funniness when he announced — with a straight face — that his party would not mention Gov. Rockefeller's divorce in this fall's gubernatorial race. This is truly nobility in action, especially when you note that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is ready to make the race against Gov. Rockefeller if Mayor Wagner isn't "persuaded" to change his mind. FDR Jr. was divorced long before Gov. Rockefeller was — and remarried — and he has the blessing of Herbert H. Lehman for the Albany job. The Republicans have no exclusivity on divorce; take as important examples Ambassador Adlai Stevenson of the UN bunch and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell — both divorced men, both politically powerful.

Rep. Powell, by the way, is feuding with Mayor Wagner. In the mayor's corner is Borough President Ed Dudley.

Before they went their separate ways, all the friends promised to consider Gayelord's invitation to be guests at his new home in Sicily.

It's a film about the jungle of Dutch Guinea. . . . Glenn Answers Titov Remarks About Diet

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Soviet saw no God in space. The American didn't expect to see one. "The God I pray to," said astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., Thursday, "is not small enough that I expect to see him in outer space."

When Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov was here Sunday he was asked about his religious feelings during his 17-orbits of the earth. "I looked around," he said. "I saw no God nor angels." "I don't think my belief in my God can be limited to any little trip into space I might take," was Glenn's answer to the same question.

Mothers Of Year Given Reception

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit staged a civic reception for 12 "Mothers of the Year" Thursday, breaking its custom of honoring only one. It took special qualifications to be among those honored this time — an even dozen children.

And the mothers brought along an even gross of 144 children, to a luncheon at a local hotel. Altogether, 131 mothers of 12 children were nominated. The association drew lots to reduce the field to a dozen, plus children, and thereby be able to stage its luncheon somewhere other than in mammoth Cobo Hall, which was filled by a foundry show, anyway.

$62.2-Million Contract Will Be Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will award a $62.2 million contract to the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. of Pascagoula, Miss., for the construction of six cargo ships, says Sen. John Stennis, Miss.

Stennis said Wednesday night the White House informed him that the contract for six vessels, each to be built at Ingalls, would be announced shortly.

TELEVISION

Laborer Unhappy After Program

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — An agent, admitted on a tape recording, told a laborer he was paid and center today of a row over whether he was paid $50 to act as a casting director.

NBC denied paying him to act on the program, "Battle of Newburgh," televised nationally Jan. 28, but said that after the program an NBC staff member gave him $50 out of sympathy for his plight.

NBC said further that Weygant, had signed an affidavit repudiating the recording taped in Mitchell's office. NBC quoted Weygant as saying in the affidavit that "I was threatened to have my children taken away from me and I was under pressure and duress."

Mayor William Ryan, an opponent of Mitchell's crackdown plan, said Mitchell and the City Council had been threatening Weygant ever since he appeared on the television program.

OPENS MONDAY

7 New Members In Legislature

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Seven new House and Senate members will head for the 1962 Legislature, which opens at noon next Monday, and New Orleans is rushing elections for two other House members.

There will be 10 changes in all eventually, five in the Senate and five in the House — caused by deaths or appointments of members to other offices.

But Sen. William P. (Cy) Hickey of New Orleans, may serve through most of the 60-day legislative term although he has been elected assessor. Hickey discussed this possibility with the governor some time ago. Davis could simply delay issuing Hickey's new assessor commission.

In the Senate, former Rep. George Tessier of the 14th Ward in New Orleans, an insurance executive and one of the legislature's outstanding independents, replaces Sen. Robert Ainsworth Jr., who resigned to take a seat on the federal bench.

Tessier represents what is considered one of New Orleans' most conservative districts.

Garland Bonin, Lafayette, replaces his late brother, Sen. Elmore F. Bonin of St. Martinville. He will represent the senatorial district of Lafayette, St. Martin and Iberia parishes. Davis administration supporters had backed a Bonin rival for the Senate.

H. N. Kimball of Marinouin, a cattleman and petroleum products distributor, succeeds the late Sen. Horace Wilkinson 3rd as senator for West Baton Rouge, Pointe Coupee and Iberville parishes.

Mrs. Andrew L. Sevier of Tall

ulah, wife of the late Sen. Sevier, is the Democratic nominee. A general election is scheduled June 5, but possibly she could sit in the Senate as a member before that date if no opposition develops from Republican or independent ranks and she is certified.

In the House, Rep. James McCormack, a Bastrop salesman, will replace former Rep. Woodrow Wilson of Morehouse Parish, who resigned to become Bastrop city judge.

Rep. Louis Thomas, a New Orleans motel operator, will succeed the late Rep. Walter P. Clark of the Orleans Parish Third Ward.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis has appointed Mrs. John S. Lewis, wife of the late Rep. Lewis of Beauregard Parish, to replace her husband.

Primary elections are scheduled Saturday, two days before the legislature convenes, to select nominees for replacements in the Ninth and 14th wards in New Orleans.

Howard Declines To Back King, Anderson Bill

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard today declined an invitation to serve on a National Mayors Committee that supports the King-Anderson bill.

Howard was invited to serve on the committee by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York to seek support for passage of the King-Anderson measure which provides for medical care for the aged under Social Security.

The bill is pending before Congress.

"I am sure that I received a blanket invitation that went to mayors in all regions of the country," Howard said.

In a letter to Mayor Wagner, Howard said "The first paragraph in your letter states, 'this bill may have a hard road to travel unless every public official who favors the program makes his voice heard in Congress.'"

"I am pleased to advise you that I shall do all within my power to make this road as hard as possible and use what influence I may have in helping to defeat this socialistic program."

Howard noted in the letter that the people of the Monroe area "still believe in constitutional government, free enterprise, individual responsibility, responsibility in local, state and federal government and oppose the policy of confiscating the earnings of all people through a federal bureaucracy."

Howard said he was opposed to the bill because the federal government is $300,000,000,000 in debt and that the King-Anderson bill would require people to forfeit their earnings through taxes to the federal government.

Report Polk Will Remain Permanent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army Times reported today that the Army has decided to retain Ft. Polk, La., as a permanent training center, but that the future of Ft. Chaffee, Ark., has been left "up in the air."

The Army, asked to comment on the news story, would say only "the matter is under study."

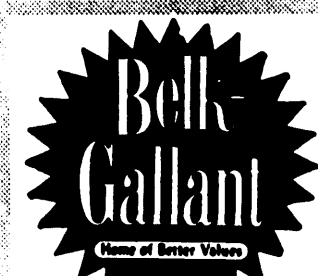

"While it is very doubtful that Chaffee will be closed down again, according to word here, what its mission will be is yet to be decided," the authoritative but unofficial newspaper said.

The Army training center at Ft. Carson, Colo., is to move to Ft. Polk this week, and next fall will begin training draftees and recruits there, the account stated.

The 49th National Guard armored division is now at Ft. Polk, but will be released Aug. 7.

Rock Throwing Incidents Are Being Checked

Monroe police are investigating reports that Negroes on the south side are throwing rocks and other items at passing motorists. The second such complaint this week was revealed today.

Dudley Crowell, Route 1, Eros, reported that as he drove west on McGee Street at 9:55 p.m. Wednesday, a Negro threw a rock and broke his car window, just missing a passenger in the vehicle.

The incident occurred at the corner of Wilson and McGee.

Earlier this week, a similar rock throwing incident, involving several Negroes, was reported on Orange Street.

Today, M. C. Griggs, Ouachita Parish School Board transportation superintendent, also revealed that within the last few weeks three Negroes were apprehended for throwing a beer can into a passing school bus.

The missile struck a school girl, breaking her teeth.

Knights Dedicate New Hall Sunday

West Monroe's Knights of Columbus will be dedicated in special ceremonies at noon Sunday. KC members have moved, completely remodeled, and bricked the building in the last year.

Bishop Charles P. Greco of Alexandria, supreme chaplain of the Knights of Columbus in the United States, will dedicate the hall, 1107 Crosley St.

Open house will be from 1 to 5 p.m., with the entire parish invited. Father Vitus Duschinsky of St. Paschal's Catholic Church in West Monroe will be featured speaker at a banquet at 8 p.m.

Dale Hatten, grand knight of the council in West Monroe, credits the renovation to the K. C. members.

"They did the reconstruction and remodeling themselves. They all donated time and labor," he said. "The only thing done by outside labor was the brickwork and actual moving of the building."

The Monsignor Vandegear Knights of Columbus Council 3642 also has paid off its entire debt. Organized in May, 1953, first KC meetings were held in St. Paschal's school cafeteria.

"We started with nothing," said Hatten, "and have come a long way in nine years."

"We've had some hardworking men who really were devoted to this thing."

The building will be used as parish hall as well as KC structure.

Value of its remodeling is set by officials at approximately $20,000 based on the work of the 65 members.

The council sponsors Boy Scout Troop Number 88, which meets at the hall on Monday nights, and the Catholic Youth Organization, which meets Wednesdays. KC meetings are on Tuesdays.

Winner of many plaques, and both diocesan and state honors for outstanding religious activities, the council helps sponsor the youth camp at Mary Hill and next year hopes to sponsor a Little League baseball team and a softball team in the city leagues in West Monroe.

The KC hall, a one-story structure, was located on North 11 Street, between Wilson and Woodrow, until it was moved to make way for the I-20 highway.

Officers, in addition to Hatten, are: deputy grand knight, Jim Boyington; warden, Salvador Coronado Sr.; advocate, Jack Millette; chancellor, Walter Krone; inside guard, Jimmy Dorthlon; outside guard, John Ward; lecturer, Bob Swan; chaplain, Father Vitus Duschinsky; financial secretary, Harry C. Martin; treasurer, Glenn Goslon; and Fred Barrett, diocesan retreat chairman.

Citizens Protest Used Car Lot On North Seventh

Citizen action is being taken by residents of the Parkwood subdivision in West Monroe, to prevent certain types of commercial businesses from being installed in a particular section of the area.

A petition, signed already by about 100 homeowners, will be filed with city officials. It asks the city council to declare the area in question be restricted to certain types of commercial property, mainly one story office structures.

Residents took action after learning a car lot or service station will be constructed at the corner of Parkwood and North Seventh Streets.

Kiwanis Honor Gifted Students In West Monroe

West Monroe's Kiwanis Club recognition goes to five top-ranking students of gifted classes at Crosley and West Monroe Junior High schools.

Safety Belt Campaign Set For Saturday

Monroe's Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct a campaign to sell and install seat belts in 400 local cars Saturday.

Lloyd Coons, project chairman, said the seat belts will be sold in downtown Monroe, downtown West Monroe, and Eastgate Shopping Center from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In three colors, red, black and gray, the belts will cost $7.50 plus $2 installation.

More than 50 per cent of those persons killed by car wrecks each year are "travelling less than 40 miles per hour" at the time, Coons said, stressing that at least one-third could have been saved by seat belts.

MAVTEC PROJECT

Jobs Sought For Area Retardees

Locating jobs for mentally retarded men and women is one of the pertinent projects of the Monroe Area Vocational Training and Evaluation Center.

MAVTEC's placement committee, headed by Homer Lane, is beginning a survey of Twin Cities business firms to find jobs which can be held by slow learners. Approximately 15 of the MAVTEC trained clients have been placed in competitive employment since the center opened at Selman Field a year ago, Lane reported.

Due to the center's increasing attendance, the placement committee is finding that new and better means of locating jobs for these potential employees are needed.

Senators Hope To Launch Estes Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators said today they hope to launch within a month their public hearings on Texas financier Billie Sol Estes and his dealings with government officials.

The wide scale inquiry by the Senate Investigations subcommittee is laden with potential political dynamite.

The subcommittee has more than a dozen agents in the field now trying to sift fact from fiction in tracing Estes' financial manipulations. Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., maintained silence on details of what they are finding.

The subcommittee seeks to learn whether influence in Washington helped Estes to run up a fortune under the government's farm program.

A Texas court of inquiry has turned up evidence that Estes profited hugely on government grain storage contracts, some unusual manipulations of cotton acreage allotments, fertilizer sales and other areas of the program designed to bolster the agricultural industry.

A federal grand jury indicted Estes for fraud in connection with chattel mortgages he was charged with selling on nonexistent fertilizer tanks. The department has canceled his 1961 marketing allotments and levied $554,162 in marketing penalties against him for alleged illegal dealings in cotton acreage allotments.

McClellan told a reporter the subcommittee, in general, seeks answers to these questions:

"How did Estes get so much grain storage?"

"How could he manipulate cotton acreage allotments as he did?"

"Are there loopholes in the law, was it properly administered, were pressures and influence involved?"

"I don't know the answers, but we intend to find out," McClellan said.

The names of several Congress members and officials of the Agriculture and Labor departments have bobbed up publicly in the course of the various investigations of Estes. Four grand juries in Texas are investigating him now, and the House subcommittee on interdepartmental relations said it may start an investigation next week. Its authority is far more restricted than is McClellan's group.

McClellan announced Thursday that while aides are investigating Estes, the subcommittee will resume Tuesday its interrupted hearings on alleged pyramiding of profits on government contracts for the design and manufacture of missiles.

THEY'RE DIFFERENT

Women Should Be Told The Truth

NEW YORK (AP)—A good-looking psychiatrist named Marie N. Robinson thinks it's high time women were told the truth: "They're different from men. They should be educated differently. Their place is in the home. When she says this, sometimes educators shudder, men rush up to insist their wives are as good as they are and women inquire coldly if she also favors keeping them barefoot and pregnant."

"To acknowledge the difference in sex roles doesn't mean to put women back in the kitchen," Dr. Robinson argues.

"But a woman's historical and biological role is in the home. Her job is keeping the tone of that home happy and loving, interpreting members of the family to each other. This is what we women are uniquely designed for."

"A woman who feels deprived if she can't go out to work every day, who says 'I can't do anything, I have four children to take care of' isn't enjoying the rightful role of women. Our contribution is to set the spiritual tone of the household. Let the men go out and make the money."

Slim, brunette Dr. Robinson, wife of a writer and mother of a 15-year-old son, is the author of "The Power of Sexual Surrender," a study of the frigid woman. Besides maintaining a private practice she is active in community health projects and consequently is not one to point a finger at working wives.

"It pleases me to work during the day," she explains. "We women doctors would rather work than play mah jongg. I'm not minimizing the quality of work. But the kind of anxiety we women bring to it."

Because a woman's major anxiety is loss of love, Dr. Robinson says, she is more concerned about her home than her job.

"I bring more anxiety to family problems or the kind of dinner I'm going to cook than to my outside work."

She thinks hopefully that the trend is slowly spiraling back toward recognizing the difference between the sexes, but on a higher level of understanding.

There's a crying need for women's colleges to stop turning into men's schools, says Dr. Robinson.

"Instead, some brave school should stand up and say 'women are different, have God-given gifts, and let's see where a woman's pleasure does come from—from chemistry 303 or from keeping the love level high in a family!'"

Orange State College Now Well Known

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — A week ago who'd ever heard of Orange County State College? Hardly anybody.

Today—

It's where they're holding the big elephant races.

Elephants from some of the biggest schools in the country converged on it. And some of the smallest.

But officials of the three-year-old college admitted to qualms over a publicity gag that snowballed as track time—4 p.m. today—nearer.

"We might have an elephant by the tail," once conceded as he eyed estimates that perhaps 30,000 spectators might invade the little campus.

Details were still hazy. Nobody knew for sure how many elephants would compete, nor whether they'd run or walk.

"We're a little new at this," a spokesman said. "After all, it's the first time it's ever been done—we think."

All 15—as the publicity office says—or 16, as the dean says—elephants will be females.

"We're taking no chances," they explain. "Experts say it's dangerous to have a male around in elephant mating season." the beasts will race over a 100-yard course. Some races will weave in and out between poles.

Russian Communism Now Is In Its Weakest Phase

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second of two dispatches by the chairman of the board of UPI based on a lengthy exclusive interview with Generalissimo Francisco Franco. By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW

MADRID (UPI)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spain's chief of state, believes Russian communism is in its weakest phase at this moment and that the Western world is presented with an extraordinary opportunity to enforce acceptable and permanent solutions of world problems.

Francisco's views were made known to this correspondent in an exclusive interview at the Pardo Palace.

The conversation ranged over international as well as internal matters including the threat of communism in Latin America, Spain's relationship with Mexico, U.S. policies with respect to Africa, De Gaulle's Algerian policy and the current crop of labor upheavals in Spain itself.

The current weakness in Russian communism stems from the de-Stalinization program forced upon Khrushchev and the Kremlin by the rising level of education and culture among the people of the U.S.S.R., Spain's chief of state said.

Communism under Stalin was enforced by the police, he said, but pointed out that during this period Russia achieved one admirable result — an increase in the level of education to a point where illiteracy dropped to two and one-half per cent. With education came a rising level of culture, Franco asserted, and an awakening curiosity among the people about other people in other lands and a growing curiosity.

This quiet pressure achieved a point where it was necessary for Khrushchev and the Kremlin to recognize and respect it, despite the obvious fact that Khrushchev himself was a supporter and lieutenant of Stalinism as long as he lived, Franco said.

The de-Stalinization program was accepted by Khrushchev because he had no other choice. Beria disappeared and the power of his secret police diminished.

This has caused a wide breach in the Communist world, Franco said, with China as the newly-made Communist power now in its police-state era and years behind Russia in education and cultural developments.

The status of the communistic effort throughout Latin America is felt to be similar to the new Communist police phase of belligerency.

Thus a philosophic breach exists between the mother country and the Communist world, Franco said, and he predicted that the Communists would be replaced by a time-planned and uneducated brood elsewhere in the world, and has proposed commonwealths and astronauta where a low point in Communist man will fly to Venus, to Mars, to other planets as friends and partners in this daring venture for the good of mankind.

Thursday in the national railway strike, the chief of state said, the interview took place in a northeastern, and eastern Spain setting of extraordinary dignity in the former royal hunting lodge.

Although government sources seven miles from Madrid, which put most of the blame for the Franco uses as an office and resiliator trouble on the Communists, denie.

It quickly became evident that the chief of state was quite will-brotherhoods, were supporting it to answer every question and in fact no effort was made to com-

Ike To Help GOP Solons Re-Election

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Eisenhower "wants to help and will help" Republican candidates running for Congress and other offices next fall, GOP National Chairman William E. Miller reported today.

Miller conferred with Eisenhower about the campaign Thursday during the ex-president's visit to Washington to meet with Republican leaders and hold a news conference.

The party chairman said Eisenhower would play "an active role" in the campaign, although no firm plans had been made yet. He indicated, however, that the former president would not be expected to barnstorm from state to state in behalf of individual candidates for Congress and governorships.

Miller visualized regional GOP meetings at which Eisenhower could talk "basic Republican philosophy" rather than local issues. Funds permitting, he said, such speeches would be carried on national television networks.

Miller also announced that the first meeting of the All-Republican Conference, now being set up, will be held at Gettysburg, Pa., Eisenhower's home town, probably in June.

The group is being set up to serve as a voice of the GOP when it does not control the White House.

At his news conference Thursday, Eisenhower charged President Kennedy with seeking greatly increased power and increasingly heavy government spending "on all fronts."

He referred specifically to administration proposals for standby power to lower taxes and increase public works spending in a recession and also attacked the Kennedy farm program.

House Republicans claimed public support for the general GOP position on these and other issues based on a summary of their own polls. They said the results showed "overwhelming opposition to key Kennedy administration proposals and general lack of support of new frontier policies."

This conclusion was based on an analysis of returns from questionnaires circulated by GOP House members in 32 districts throughout the country.

Second, in many Latin American countries a confusing intermix exists between strong nationalism and communism. The struggle to improve the standard of living and the cultural standards is made more difficult by the fact that there are too many political parties fighting each other for power, thus frequently there is no strong and responsible political party with the power and ability to guide the nation. "This atomization of political parties, with no strength or continuity of government," is in many cases an open invitation to communism.

Asked if Italy fell within the category of national weakness because of a multiplicity of political parties, Franco replied in the negative. "Italy can afford this because of the fantastic economic progress achieved by her hard-working people."

Mexico — Spain feels herself close to the people of Mexico but distant from the Mexican government because of the behind-the-scenes domination of Mexico's successive administrations by Lázaro Cárdenas. Chance of establishment of diplomatic relations with Mexico is not bright as long as Cárdenas remains the invisible power behind the throne.

"We are perfectly aware of the difference between what people think and the official position of the Mexican government. When a Mexican friend was asked why the government did not make the government responsive to their own views he said, you must remember that we have a certain security now that we did not have fifty years ago, and for the time being we feel we must be content with that."

"U.S. policies in Africa — Independence has been granted many of the new African nations 'prematurely and precipitously,' before the people had attained a sufficient level of maturity and culture to be able to govern themselves. The United States in backing the rapid creation of these new nations may have lacked sufficient information."

De Gaulle and Algeria — There might have been an alternative solution to one road from which there is no turning. "In your excellency's judgment will he succeed?" "He must succeed. There is no other choice."

As to the United States, which has military bases under lease in Spain, the nation's relationship with the Kennedy administration is "as strong and friendly as ever."

Titov Will Leave Country For Homeland

NEW YORK (UPI)—Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, ending a 13-day visit to the United States which took him from Greenwich Village to the Golden Gate, returns home to Russia today.

Titov, who expressed mixed emotions about America during his stay here, was to depart from New York International Airport at 10 a.m. EDT with his wife Tamara, and their official party.

The 27-year-old Spaceman's day Thursday was typically varied. He went from the Princeton University campus to the prize ring at St. Nicholas Arena in Manhattan.

At Princeton, he spoke to about 1,000 students on the problems of man in space, such as weightlessness, spaceship control, eating and sleeping. "It is possible to live in outer space as you can see for yourself," Titov told the students.

Titov, who last August orbited the earth 17 times, later told a rally at the sports arena his "number one impression" of the American people was their "friendly attitude."

The affair, sponsored by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, drew a cheering crowd estimated at 4,000 by a Soviet official and 2,500 by a spokesman for the arena.

Titov, standing in a ring whose canvas had been replaced by a time-planned and uneducated brood elsewhere in the world, and has proposed commonwealths and astronauta where a low point in Communist man will fly to Venus, to Mars, to other planets as friends and partners in this daring venture for the good of mankind.

The Fisherman's Corner

With Sam Henne

The Weekend Picture

Weekend fishing in Northeast Louisiana should be good, especially the bream fishing. Bream have been biting all over the district these past few days.

Bass still haven't begun to bite in most of the area lakes and streams, although the bass fishing generally has been good at Bussey and now at Clark's Bayou, which leads into Lake St. Joseph in Tensas Parish.

Spec fishing is not as good as it was earlier in the season.

Meantime, numerous fishermen have expressed interest in the sources that the Fisherman has for obtaining information about the many lakes.

This information comes to the Fishermen through several channels — from biologist Jim Davis on the local scene, correspondents in the field, reliable boat dock owners and actual fishermen.

While the Fisherman's reports are reliable, they are not a guarantee.

The Fisherman notes with interest that in Arkansas the Game and Fish Commission each summer sponsors a system of feeding information about the state's lakes to fishermen via newspapers, television and radio.

This is a most helpful service, but unfortunately a similar service in Louisiana is not available.

For the next two months or so, with the legislature in session, the Fisherman's Corner will be written by the old fisherman himself, sports editor Paul Martin.

Here is your weekend guide:

BLACK BAYOU at Monroe. Bream fishing is real good. The big chinquapins are averaging almost a pound each. Bluegills are biting at the entrance to the Third Lake. Try crickets and worms. White perch not much. Bass either.

BAYOU DESIARD at Monroe. Catching more specs here now than anywhere else. On shiners and worms. Bass fishing not good.

CHENIERE LAKE at West Monroe. Bream fishing is pretty good and a few white perch are being caught.

WALLS LAKE at West Monroe. Bream fishing is excellent. Bass and specs still slow.

BUSSEY at Bastrop. Bass fishing is the best anywhere, although it's not really tops here. It's all right. Bream is better. Specs still biting. Try the brush on the backside. For bream, fish the front along the bank.

BARTHOLOMEW LAKE at Sterlington. Bream doing well in the buttonwillows. Bass fishing is good early in the morning.

BAYOU D'ARBONNE, BAYOU BARTHOLOMEW. Still too high and muddy.

IRVINE'S LAKE at Beckman. Water still too high.

LAKE IRWIN at Oak Ridge. Fair for bream, but not much for spec and bass.

LAFOURCHE at Columbia. Bream really biting. White perch fishing is good along the edges.

DAVIS LAKE at Columbia. Was real good until the lake got out of its banks last weekend. Hasn't done too well since, but should be good this weekend. Fish the inside of the curve for bream.

WOOLEN LAKE at Hebert. Bream are biting. VOLMAN LAKE at Riverton. Same story as in past weeks. River still has it.

CLEAR LAKE in Richland. Fishing for bluegills excellent. Big strings being caught. Fish it early or fish it late.

SALINE LAKE at Winnfield. Bass fishing is good in the Chee Chee Bay area. Bream and crappie fishing dropped off considerably. Lake is up about a foot.

WORKMAN'S BAYOU at Jonesville. Bream fishing is real good. Barfish and bass are striking around the edges. Bream fishing also is good in HORSESHOE LAKE and CROSS BAYOU in the Jonesville area.

BLACK RIVER LAKE at Jonesville. Good for bream with spec and bass not bad. Same as TEW LAKE. There's too much fresh water in SNAGGY, but bream are biting in KITTERLIN CREEK BAY while the barfish are hitting in MUDDY BAYOU. Try red-worms and crickets for bream.

KING'S DUMP in Franklin. White perch are biting again. Bream fishing is good at DEAN'S LAKE.

LAKE LOUIE, BAYOU LOUIE at Sicily Island. White perch and bream fishing improved.

LAKE ST. JOSEPH at Tensas. Hot as a six-shooter. Bream tearing it up on crickets. Few white perch being caught on crickets. Bass biting in CLARK'S BAYOU.

LAKE YUCATAN in Tensas. Still high, same as the TENSAS RIVER.

LAKE BRUIN in Tensas. Bream biting caught by flyfishing.

BRUSHY at Tallulah. Small bream being caught. Conditions clearing in BEAR LAKE, LAKE ONE, EAGLE LAKE. Trotlining is good here.

LAKE CONCORDIA at Ferriday. Bream and bass fishing good. Try top water lures. Water on the standstill.

LAKE ST. JOHN at Waterproof. Bream biting crickets and worms. Beginning to catch a few bass on crickets and worms in the tall grass near the sandbar.

OLD RIVER in East Carroll. Water is clear and white perch are biting. Bream are too.

LAKE PROVIDENCE in East Carroll. Bass not biting, but catfish and bream are.

GASSOWAY in East Carroll. White perch fishing is excellent.

Johnson Ready For Saturday Title Defense

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Harold Johnson, the National Boxing Association light heavyweight champion, has won the first round of a legal bout with his manager over purses and now has his sights set on Doug Jones in their 15-round nationally televised title bout at the Arena Saturday night.

"I feel better now," said the 33-year-old Johnson, who had threatened to pull out of the fight if his purse were held in escrow by legal action or if his manager, Pat Olivieri, who he is suing, was allowed to take the manager's share immediately after the fight.

But this matter was settled late Thursday to Johnson's liking. It was decided after conferences among attorneys, a judge and Alfred M. Klein, a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, that Johnson's 50 per cent share of the purse would not be held up.

O'Dell

Oriole Castoff Blanks Cards For 5th Win

By FRED DOWN

UPI Sports Writer

Billy O'Dell is one pitcher in a million — not because he has a 5-0 record for the San Francisco Giants — but because he's one fellow about whom Paul Richards guessed wrong.

Richards is one of those guys who's never supposed to be wrong when it comes to judging pitchers. He's got a fantastic string of successes with lame-armed and lame-brained pitchers who couldn't win for anybody but him. And just the opposite is supposed to be true: When Richards gives up on 'em, well, there just ain't any hope left.

Richards felt that way about O'Dell's performance and his first two years with the Giants generally supported Richards' judgment (8-13 in 1960 and 7-5 in 1961) but this year it's different.

O'DELL WINS FIFTH

O'Dell made it five in a row Thursday night when he pitched the Giants to a 6-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a game halted after 8 2-3 innings by a heavy rain. The victory restored the Giants' National League lead over the Cardinals and Los Angeles Dodgers to four games.

Willie McCovey hit a three-run homer and Felipe Alou had a two-run double to lead an 11-hit attack that dealt Bob Gibson his second defeat against three wins. O'Dell also held Stan Musial hitless — leaving the great Cardinal star still one hit short of Honus Wagner's all-time league mark of 3,430 hits during a career.

DODGERS BEAT COLTS

The Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Houston Colts, 6-2, and the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, in other NL games. In the American League, Early Wynn scored the 29th victory of his career as the Chicago White Sox beat the Washington Senators, 3-1, the Baltimore Orioles topped the Kansas City A's, 5-2, the Los Angeles Angels nudged the Detroit Tigers, 6-4, and the Cleveland Indians routed the Minnesota Twins, 9-4.

Don Drysdale yielded homers to Roman Mejias and Carl Warwick but allowed only one other hit in scoring his fifth victory. Drysdale retired 17 consecutive batters until Warwick's homer in the ninth. Rookie Larry Burright homered for the Dodgers.

Frank Bolling's ninth-inning homer gave the Braves their victory after Mack Jones' three-run homer in the eighth produced a 3-3 tie. Hank Fischer picked up the win for one scoreless inning of relief pitching before 2,746, smallest crowd in the history of Milwaukee's County Stadium.

WYNN MOVES CLOSER

Wynn moved within six wins of his 300-lifetime-victory goal with a seven-hit, four-strikeout performance at Washington. Al Smith's homer and three blows by Nelson Fox led the White Sox

In Reverse Great For Giants

CATFISH GROW BIG in Lafourche Canal on the Ouachita-Richland line as evidenced here by two that weighed 53 pounds and 41 pounds respectively. Mel Duncan (center) of Monroe caught the fish while his son, Bob Duncan, and daughter, Denise Duncan, look on. Duncan has caught 10 catfish that weighed over 38 pounds. He trotlines for a hobby, using shad.

Candidate For

MAYOR

CITY OF WEST MONROE

★ QUALIFIED ★ EXPERIENCED

★ COURTEOUS ★ FRIENDLY

I have lived in West Monroe all my life and support it.

I am a successful businessman and still own the C. C. Bell, Jr. Business Properties on Coleman Ave. I will oppose any increase in salary of ANY ELECTED city officials. I would support an increase in wages for the NOW UNDERPAID hourly wage city employees.

I would absolutely oppose any increase in water rates.

I will oppose any garbage fee or other tax increase. The streets that you are forced to pay for, and all others, will be properly kept up and maintained by the city.

All possible city supplies and materials will be bought in West Monroe.

The city council, not the Mayor, has the authority to hire and fire all city employees. I will cooperate with them in this responsibility.

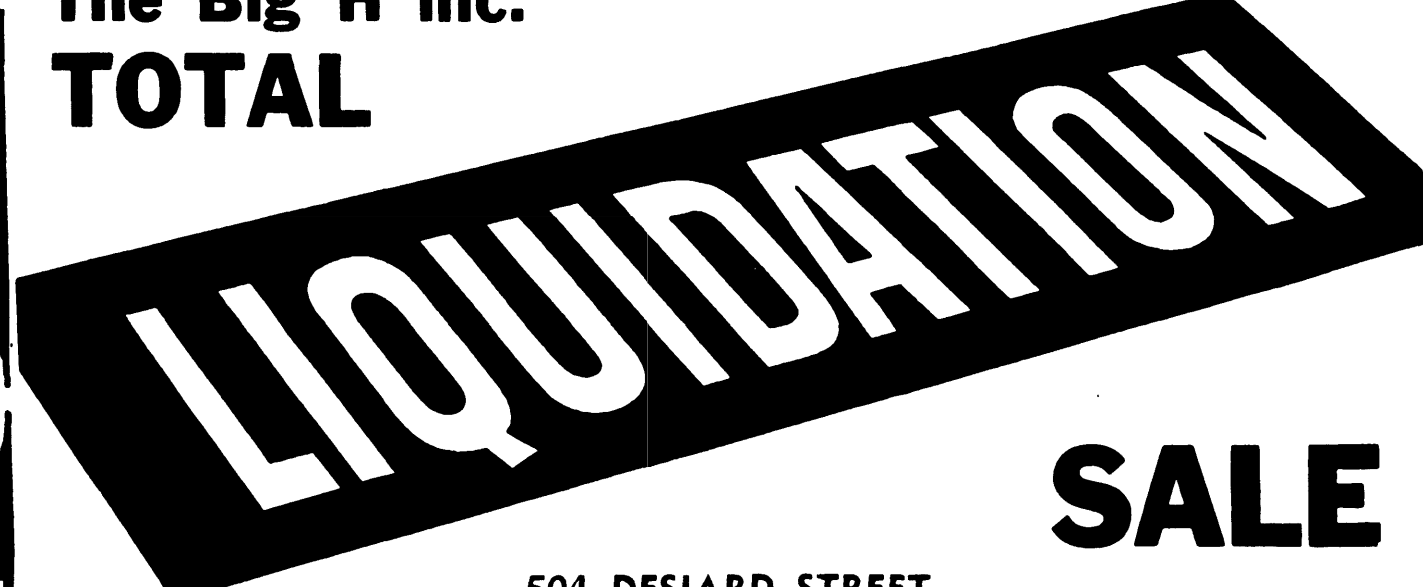

If elected I will serve as Mayor of all the people of West Monroe and your mayor's office will be open to you at any time.

Your vote and support is sincerely appreciated.

Neville Eyes State Crown After Wins Over Menard

They say "history repeats itself." Neville's baseball team hopes so.

The diamond Tigers lost the first game of their state class AA semi-final series with Menard last year, then swept the second two and went on to win the state championship.

Still Signing Dixie, Pelican League Talent

Player registrations for West Monroe's Dixie and Pelican baseball leagues will continue through the second tryouts May 19, Judge John McCormick, league president, announced.

First tryouts are scheduled Saturday afternoon, and workouts will follow the next three Saturdays through June 2. The regular season schedule opens the week of June 4.

Boys not already registered can do so at tryouts at Confederate Park May 12 and May 19. Or, they can continue to register at West Monroe High School, West Monroe Junior High, Judge McCormick's office in the city hall, Boys Club, and Colbert's Hardware.

Rebel League boys of last year do not register or tryout. The players of this disbanded league are being absorbed into the two new leagues, according to their age group.

Dixie League, ages 13 and 14, workout Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. Pelican League, for the 15 through 17-year age group, drills from 3 to 5 p.m.

Palmer One Blow Ahead In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, his booming driver under control and sporting a one-stroke lead, headed a classy Colonial field today into the second round of the National Invitation Golf Tournament.

The handsome hotshot from Pennsylvania served notice Thursday that he fully intends to take the title that has evaded him in seven previous appearances here.

Palmer, already a five-time winner in 1962 and the tour's leading money winner with $52,308, shot a sizzling 67 to take command of the $40,400 event.

The 3-under-par round left him a stroke ahead of South African Gary Player, Doug Ford and Bo Wininger and two shots out front of five others.

At 69 were a pair of relative newcomers — Jack Nicklaus and Jacky Cupit, Waco Turner open champ Johnny Pott and a couple of veterans, Tommy Jacobs and Bill Collins.

Palmer was magnificent from the tee Thursday and was the first to admit it.

"I drove just perfect," he said, "never off line. I missed the fairway only once."

He blamed an erratic 8-iron for two of his three bogies but declared there was no excuse for the bogies anyway.

He collected six birdies and through 11 holes was five under par before running into trouble at the 12th. His birdie putts ranged from 25 feet to one and a half feet and three other birdie putts bounded in and out of the hole.

"It could have been one of my best rounds," he added.

Player, who accompanied Palmer through the first 18 holes, defined Palmer's showing as "a helluva first round."

"I was one under par at one point," Player said, "and felt like I was a hacker."

Former Colonial champion Mike Souhak celebrated his 35th birthday in bitter disappointment. He and Ken Venturi were disqualified for posting incorrect scores on the 17th hole.

SOUTH PARK: First National Bank vs. Farmer - Heard, 4 p.m.; Colbert's Hardware vs. Central Bank, 6 p.m.; Texaco vs. McLemore's Shopping Center, 8 p.m.

Central Bank scored all its runs in the last inning to defeat First National Bank, 5-4, in a Little Boys baseball game in West Monroe Thursday night.

Bob Jordan, Central, and Richard Martin, First National were top batters, each with 2-for-3. Clint Jordan and Joe Lambert was the winning battery over Martin and Charles Lemard.

John Nelson's home run featured the exhibition victory of Louisiana Power and Light over Colbert's Hardware, 6-3. Mike Felical hit 2-for-3 for Colbert's.

Thursday they clipped Menard's Eagles twice again after losing the opening tilt. Next stop is the state finals against the winner of the Slidell - Abbeville semi-final.

The lucky number Thursday was seven, Neville taking the first game, 7-1, and the night cap, 7-0. Hershel Walker pitched a five-hitter in the opening contest and Randy Fallin followed up with a nifty two-hit job on the Eagles from Alexandria.

Neville backed its pitchers with a total of 10 hits, only four in the first game and six in the second. Charlie Brown's Tigers put the first game on ice quickly, scoring five runs in the first inning. Don Saget was the bat star in the opener with 1-3 and three runs batted in.

Indians, USL Scheduled To Battle Today

Northeast and Southwestern were scheduled to end their baseball seasons on the Ouachita diamond this afternoon in a doubleheader with second place overtones for Southwestern.

A sweep for the Bulldogs from Lafayette would give them a 13 - 7 Gulf States Conference record, good for a tie for second place with Louisiana Tech. Tech ended USL's championship hopes yesterday by sweeping two games.

Bob Rachal, ace of the Northeast mound staff with a 4 - 2 record, was slated to start one of the games for the Indians, 6 - 11 in conference play.

Either Bobby Lockwood or Ed Quimby were set to start the other tilt for the hosts. Lockwood has won four games this year while Quimby has won only one but has been the Tribe's hard-luck hurler, pitching creditably consistently but being the victim of poor support often.

Ronnie Davis, center fielder - pitcher Bob Groves, Jerry Godwin, Teddy Payne and Larry Boss will be available for relief duty for Coach George Luffey's Indians.

Southwestern has met Northeast twice this year with the Bulldogs taking both, the first by a 11 - 4 count and the second by a 5-1 score.

The teams were originally scheduled to play today's doubleheader back on March 31 but the tilts were rained out and reset several times, wet weather washing them out every time.

Class C Track Wrap-Up Today

RUSTON, La. (AP) — Finals were set for today in the state Class C track meet with Waterproof and the Louisiana School for the Deaf tied with 12 points after the first round.

Moreauville was next with 11; followed by Pelican 6; Rougon 5; Campt, Bordelonville and Bienville 4 each; Sikes, Hathaway and Morrow 3 each; Lacassaigne, Ronoake and Start 2 each; Mid-City and Longville 1 each.

Skeet Trophy Added To List By Pine Hills

The Pine Hills Gun Club has added a Challenge Cup trophy for skeet as well as trapshooters, and the shotgun sportsmen will be able to shoot for both at the club's target work Sunday at its shooting range at Bancroft's Camp on Cheniere Lake.

The club's handicap committee is handicapping its shooters in such a way that every member will have a chance to win one or both trophies.

Sunday's shoot will serve as additional practice for the club's annual party and trophy shoot on tap for Sunday May 27, and field captain "Dick" Dickenhorst is urging a good turnout of shooters.

Members of the board of directors will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the office of J. Cox, Frazier and Webb, 1509 Royal Avenue, with nomination of new board members high on the order of business.

Resume Gator, Maroon Series

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Mississippi State faced a "win or else" proposition today in the second game of a best-of-three series against Florida for the Southeastern Conference baseball title.

The Bulldogs, Western division titlists, fell to the Gators 8-3 in the series opener at Gainesville, Fla., Wednesday. Should they win today, the final game will be played here Saturday.

Regardless of the series outcome, however, Florida will rep. policy forbidding state-supported teams to compete with racially integrated teams.

SUNDAY BREAKFAST on the terrace is turned into a special occasion by the simple device of placing apricot colored daisies in the center of the grapefruit to match the ones that bloom on the dinnerware. Quick touches such as this can lift any family meal out of doldrums of everyday eating, and give stimulation both to the appetite and to the conversation.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do you think that two children, 14 and 16, who get a generous allowance, should put the arm on their father for extra money to buy a Mother's Day present? If I don't give it to them, they wouldn't have enough money to buy a Mother's Day gift and she would be hurt. I have been buying Mother her gift (from the children) for years, but want to know if you think it is right.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column interested me very much. It was from a boy who said he had been kissed in "Italian." I am an Italian musician and would like to know exactly what an Italian style kiss is. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: It starts out pianissimo, reaches a crescendo and winds up fortissimo.

DEAR POP: You are a softie. There would be more sentiment in a card, purchased with their "own" hard-saved money than a gift to Mother for which Father paid.

DEAR ABBY: I have always gotten a big kick out of your column but never thought I'd be writing in with a problem. Here it is. Every girl I date more than three or four times wants to get married. I am no Casanova. Abby, started doing it, too.

Party Given To Honor Miss Bradley Prior To May 26 Wedding Vows

Bride-elect, Miss Betty Bradley was honoree Friday evening, May 4, at a party in the home of Mrs. Grace Williams. Miss Bradley will become the bride of Eugene S. Miller May 26 in the First Baptist Church of Monroe. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Miller of Monroe.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Williams were Mrs. Lillian Warren, Mrs. J. G. Bailey, Mrs. Katherine Steen, Mrs. Grace Williams, Mrs. E. Parker, and Mrs. J. W. Simpson.

Arrangements of roses were placed at vantage points throughout the home with a green and white color scheme being used. A lace cloth over green covered the refreshment table which was centered by a container of roses. Silver candle holders were placed near the footed cut-glass punch bowl. Alternating in serving the punch were Mrs. W. S. Simpson and Mrs. J. G. Bailey. Tiny sandwiches and cookies were placed on silver trays.

Miss Bradley wore a tulle dress of blue cotton covered with white embroidery and white accessories. She was presented a corsage of pink sweetheart roses by the hostesses.

WHEN OBSTRUCTIVE

U.S. Now Slaps Allies At Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — For many years there has been a reluctance—at least publicly—by the American government to belt its Allies, even when they dragged their feet or got downright obstructive.

The Kennedy administration seems to be melting some of this reluctance. But nothing visible yet shows that President Kennedy has reached a decision to get rough. He's only in the chastising stage now.

A couple of examples came in this past week from Kennedy and his secretary of defense, Robert McNamara.

Ever since last summer Kennedy has been sweating out the job of trying to cool off the Berlin crisis and reach some agreement that will calm the Russians and still be acceptable to the Allies, particularly West Germany.

Then in the past few weeks the West German government of Chancellor Adenauer has been belittling the American efforts and ideas. President De Gaulle of France wouldn't even approve negotiating at all.

De Gaulle's performance must be especially irritating to Kennedy.

Kennedy has been trying to avoid a showdown Berlin crisis which could lead to war in Europe. The disdainful De Gaulle stood aloof, doing nothing although such a war could overwhelm him.

Yet haughty De Gaulle can't even settle his own Algerian problem or crush the Secret Army which has been murdering Moslems and each day making a real settlement more impossible.

At his news conference this week, just after Adenauer had scoffed at the arrangements this administration was trying to work out on Berlin, the President let go.

He said the United States had done more than any other nation to guarantee the freedom of the West Berliners—over whom Adenauer expresses so much concern—and would bear the brunt of any conflict with the Russians.

For that reason, he said, "we have some rights to at least explore" the possibility of a solution.

But this could be taken as a double crack at De Gaulle who hasn't yet fulfilled his share of the allied agreements on how many men and divisions would be put at the disposal of that organization in case of war.

This is where Kennedy seemed to be aiming at the Frenchman. He said "It isn't difficult to say you shouldn't do this or that, and at the same time some countries do not play as active a role as we've been willing to play in an attempt to work this out."

At a NATO meeting in Athens last Saturday McNamara, talking in detail on American defense policies, criticized this country's European allies for having failed to meet their agreements in providing forces for NATO.

It was at this same meeting that McNamara committed five fully equipped Polaris submarines to NATO.

But the Kennedy administration has shown the same signs of being fed up elsewhere. For instance, in Viet Nam in Southeast Asia where President Ngo Dinh Diem's government was being pushed back steadily by Communist guerrillas.

This is pretty much a dictatorial government where reforms—as one means of persuading the Vietnamese to stick with the West instead of choosing communism—had long been badly needed.

The Kennedy administration has attempted—but it has been pretty close-mouthed about how far it really went—to push Diem's government into reforms. At least it was an effort which should have been made long ago.

CBS Reports Was Sounding Board

NEW YORK (AP)—The basic disagreement in the touchy subject of birth control stems, as commentator Eric Sevareid pointed out Thursday night, from "the differences in the moral attitudes of Catholics and non-Catholics" on the subject.

Controversy notwithstanding, "CBS Reports" Thursday night tackled the subject on a broad front, providing plenty of opportunity for both sides (and some caught in the middle) to express their views. And, while it had no conclusions to make, the program did suggest the time had come for all concerned to sit down together and find a solution.

Without taking sides, the program repeatedly emphasized that "high birth rates go hand in hand with low income." It first considered the situation in Chicago, where controversy flares over an alleged ban on family planning and birth control services in public hospitals and clinics—not forbidden by law. Then, it moved to Connecticut, where an old Anthony Comstock law forbidding the dissemination of such information is currently under attack.

It was a thoughtful, stimulating and level-headed presentation. The macabre goings-on that sometimes follow the death of screen idols will be dramatized by NBC on June 10. "The Movie" for television by William Bast, is set in a small midwestern town before the burial of a young movie star killed in an accident.

That, of course, sounds a lot more reminiscent of the James Dean tragedy that the hysteria around the earlier death of Rudolph Valentino. Quite logically, too, for Bast once wrote a book called "Jimmy Dean—A Biography."

Mutual Broadcasting Company's house organ reports that the "snap, crackle, pop" of an American cereal commercial becomes "pif, paf, pof" in France, Italy and Holland, "poks, riks raks" in Finland and "knisper, knasper, knusper" in Germany.

TV casting plums of the year—the title role in NBC's 90-minute western, "The Virginian" to be seen next season—has been caught by James Drury. The young actor (presumably tall and slim because Gary Cooper played the Owen Wister character in the movies) is so little known that NBC can't find a picture of him.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight — "Yves Montand on Broadway," NBC, 8:30-9:30 Eastern Daylight Time—rerun of a variety hour buried under a three-way show conflict earlier this season.

Sunday — "Acres and Pains," CBS, 9-9:30 p.m.—pilot comedy film on country living which may be a series two seasons hence: "Fads and Foibles," NBC, 10-11—Art Carney and Alice Ghostley in a variety hour pegged on the nation's enthusiasms over the years. Page 4-B Midwest Hit 1A

Research On Common Colds Now Effective

CHICAGO (AP) — Medical research into the common cold has progressed to the point where efforts can be made to develop an effective vaccine, medical scientists have reported.

In an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association, a group of Philadelphia researchers said a virus called corynavirus causes cold symptoms in a fairly large percentage of sufferers.

This new discovery coupled with knowledge of other cold inducing viruses "permits intelligent selection of virus strains for vaccines which, if successful, may control a reasonable portion of the respiratory diseases spectrum," the journal article said.

Strikers Agree To Return To Work

LONDON (AP)—British European Airways electricians at London Airport Thursday night called off a strike for higher pay and decided to go back on the job immediately.

The strikers had been demanding extra pay for servicing aircraft instruments.

The strike has cut the airline's services by half.

General Pledges Work For Freedom

BERLIN (AP)—Gen. Paul L. Freeman, new U.S. Army commander in Europe, pledged himself Thursday to work to maintain freedom of West Berlin.

Gen. Freeman was on his first visit to the divided city since taking over his post.

He signed West Berlin's "Golden Book" and heard Mayor Willy Brandt praise the cooperation of German and American officers in Berlin.
